7. President's Report The outgoing President, Paula Menzies, presented her report, summarising ISVA's recent activities and expressing gratitude for the support received during her term. The President expressed pride in representing ISVA since the 2023 Seville ISVC and highlighted four main initiatives achieved over the past two and a half years:

- Support for the Australian Veterinary Association, led by Andrew Whale and his team, in successfully organising the ISVC in Wollongong.
- Membership development, including outreach to national veterinary associations and small ruminant groups, as well as updating delegate information. Planned constitutional changes are expected to facilitate this process.
- Future congress planning, noting that a single bid was received for the 2028 ISVC, from Brazil, which was highly commended.
- Fundraising for the Karl Linklater Fund, which continues under the strong leadership of past president Ian Gill.

8. Report on the Karl Linklater fund Ian Gill reported on the Karl Linklater Fund. Visa difficulties limited recipient attendance, with no participant able to attend.

9. Treasurer's Report Delia Lacasta as Secretary-Treasurer summarised the ISVA accounts.

Opening balance (February 2023): CAD 11,798.32

- Main income: CAD $2,858.27 received from SEOC (Sociedad Española de Ovinotecnia y Caprinotecnia) corresponding to the ISVA 2023 Congress profits (October 2023).
- Main expenses: CAD $270 (logo development) & CAD $1992.90 (transfer to Karl Linklater fund)
- Bank service fees: Regular CIBC account maintenance fees (CAD 4 monthly) were systematically waived each month.
- Final balance (October 2025): CAD 12,457.69 (10721€)

Between 2023 and 2025, ISVA's financial situation remained stable, with one major income event and two expenditures. The current account balance stands at CAD 12,457.69, reflecting a healthy position for future initiatives.

10. Update on the 2025 11th ISVC Andrew Whale provided an update on the 11th ISVC in Australia, reporting that the congress had run smoothly overall. He noted that all scientific and organisational aspects were successful, with positive feedback from delegates. The only setback concerned the International Dinner, which did not run smoothly, and he offered his apologies for this.

11. Presentation of the bid for the 2028 12th ISVC. Huber Rizzo presented the Brazilian bid to host the 12th ISVC in 2028. He delivered a comprehensive presentation to the General Meeting, and despite some technical difficulties during the session, the proposal was strong and well received by the delegates. The bid was subsequently endorsed, confirming that the next ISVC will be held in Pernambuco, Brazil, in May 2028.

12. Any other relevant business at the President's discretion

- The ISVA Lifetime Service Awards were announced for the following recipients: Ian Morrison Gill, George Fthenakis, Ken Pettey, and Neil Sargison. John Smart was not present for receiving his award in 2023 and was therefore also presented on this occasion. Neil Sargison was unable to attend the meeting, while the remaining recipients received their certificates in person.
- Final election results were confirmed, and appreciation was expressed to the outgoing President and Committee Members.
- Solicitation of bids for the 2031 ISVC. The President encouraged all member countries to consider submitting a bid to host the ISVC in 2031. Members were reminded that the ISVA website provides detailed guidelines on the bid process, and the Committee remains available to address any questions from prospective hosts.

13. Adjourn - next meeting to be held at the 12th ISVC, 2028 in Pernambuco, Brazil.
